Karen Rowell

Mrs. Rowell is a 1976 graduate from HPHS who went on to pursue a degree in English after being very impressed with her high school English teacher, Sandra Hill. She attended Wallace State Community College and later transferred to Southern Benedictine for her education. She was offered the English job in 1980 and has become an important member of the faculty here at HPHS. After her first year, she went on to receive her Masters Degree in counseling at Jacksonville State University. She juggled being the counselor for the elementary and high school along with teaching English. She taught for 11 years before deciding to become the counselor full time. Her favorite part of her job is to see the excitement of students when they pass their graduation exams, receive high ACT scores, or earn college scholarships. The joy and excitement is a rewarding feeling for all the hard work. Mrs. Rowell has dedicated considerable time and effort for the past 30 years to help students excel in high school in order to have productive futures.
